Marie-Louise von Franz: A Film/Interview by Francoise Selhofer

Filmed in 1972, this interview with Marie-Louise von Franz provides an up close and personal engagement with Dr. von Franz conducted in her native Swiss German. The English voice over is beautifully done, allowing one to hear in the background the natural vitality and passion for her vocation as a depth psychologist.

The interview covers the subject of dreams and dream interpretation, types of dreams such as death dreams, dreams of the afterlife, and more. She examines the relation of psyche and matter, discussing Jung's term "psychoïd" as that interface where the psychic archetypal patterns manifest in outer life through synchronicity. She speaks of the relationship of dreams to creativity, and of alchemy to modern feminism. Finally she stresses the importance of turning back to the guidance of the unconscious as our civilization is in a state of decay, needing deep renewal, and the importance of the individual amidst the dangerous tendency of the "massing together" of people into collectives

Christine Chapman and Alan Drymala are Diplomate Jungian analysts trained at the Centre for Depth Psychology according to C.G. Jung and Marie-Louise von Franz in Zurich, Switzerland. Both practice in Colorado Springs and serve on the Board of the Jung Society of Colorado Springs
